Washington.—President Coolidge's political future has become wrapped up in the Teapot Dome controversy. There no longer is any question, from the action of his friends, both inside and out of Congress, that the steps he takes in the immediate future will depend to a large extent on the opportunities he has for nomination and election. Whether the issue is big enough to force the party of the republican party at the polls, it is of course too early to say, but the nervous activity of the republican leaders indicates that they will leave no stone unturned to prevent the Teapot Dome affair from achieving an exaggerated importance politically.

To date the supporters of President Coolidge feel he has handled an awk-

Mrs. Taggart claimed to have no knowledge of the whereabouts of Koretz and admitted having cabled him from Vancouver. She said she had not seen Koretz since she left Vancouver three years ago.

Tokio.—The imperial diet was dissolved today following scenes of the greatest disorder in which water flasks were thrown and fists used. The disturbances resulted from attempts of the opposition to intercept the government regarding the attempted wrecking of a train at Nagaoka carrying opposition leaders to Tokio.

The turbulent scenes which occurred in the lower house made further business impossible.

The outburst came shortly after the representatives had taken their seats upon the resumption of the diet session.

Opposing the government in connection with the train wreck, in which three prominent opposition leaders escaped injury, although the locomotive of their train was damaged, the foes of Premier Kiyoura and his newly-installed cabinet demanded that the premier reply personally to Kiyoura.

LIONS POSTPONE MEMORIAL SHOW TO EARLY IN MAY

According to a decision made at the weekly meeting of the Lions club Wednesday noon, the show to be given for raising funds for the soldiers' memorial will be given the first week in May. On account of the K. of C. circus, American Legion show and tent, it has been found necessary to postpone the show to a later time.

While no decision as to the type of entertainment it will be held, it is thought it will probably be a high class card show, similar to the "Tear Card," which was here under the auspices of the club last year, rather than a home town production.

James A. Woertendyke, a member of the Chicago Grand Opera company, sang three solos.

Twenty delegates attended the Beloit presentation ceremony of the Lions club there Tuesday night.

Delegates from Madison, Rockford and Stoughton were also present.

REVISED DANCE ORDINANCE VOTED

County Board Adjourns Sine Die After Making Cities Subject to Law.

Making important amendments to the dance hall ordinance, one of which brings Janesville under its provisions, and appointment of dance hall inspectors to enforce it, formed the most important business effected by the Rock county board of supervisors when it met last week before it adjourned sine die, not to meet until after the spring election.

Much verbiage was uttered on the subject of poor relief, a sore subject with the board, and was brought to a close with the possibility of centralizing control of county poor relief in the superintendent of the county poor farm, being referred to the poor farm committee for a report April.

As was expected, the subject of amending the dance hall ordinance to eliminate the features objectionable to many who had previously voted for it, was brought up at the board reconvened Wednesday afternoon.

Want "Hell Holes" Cut

Feas was expressed by Supervisor Hall that a reconsideration of the dance hall ordinance would mean none would be enacted, and he declared he wanted to "see some of the hell holes we've got in our county cut out." Supervisor Janssen said it was high time Rock county took action toward the regulation of conditions.

Supervisor Drafahl declared he was not opposed to the dance hall ordinance but felt that a $5 inspector will answer the purpose as well as $10. Supervisor Brumh suggested the yearly dance hall license and the amount for each dance permit be cut in two. The matter was then referred to the committee.

Recommendations of the committee on changes of the ordinance as were finally passed by the board cut the yearly dance hall license fee from $20 to $10 and the dance permits to $5, and give inspectors $5 a dance hall, in instead of $2. Of most importance to the city of Janesville was the provision that the section exempting Janesville, Beloit and Evansville, from the provisions of the ordinance, be repealed.

Action by the board on cutting the amount for dance permits and inspectors was $5, and voting unanimous. Supervisor G. B. Hall was the only one voting against the $20 yearly fee being cut to $10. Dispute Over Cities

Seven votes were cast against including the cities among those who must comply with the provisions of the ordinance. The cities were included in roll call vote of 31. Voting no were: Supervisor G. B. Hall, C. E. Eldred, Blodfelscher, Perrigo, Simon Shantz and D. D. Treadway, Beloit and M. P. Richardson, Janesville.

There was much discussion over the ordinance, Janesville and Beloit supervisors objected to the cities being included in the new city ordinance, but it was claimed that it is not being enforced in Beloit, although nothing was said about Janesville, where it was admitted a more stringent ordinance than that which the county passed is now being enforced.

Supervisor Mosley gave the report of the county highway committee on snow removal which expressed the sentiments of the board, judging by the unanimity with which it was received. Supervisor Lathers of Turtle said what makes the difference between city opinion and those in the country is the concern over snow removal in the drifts.

Asks Road Widening

The danger to pedestrians walking between the city limits of Beloit and the new city cemetery a half mile out on Highway 61 was pointed out by Supervisor Lathers. Mr. Lathers suggested that something be done to widen the road, either by a new nine foot road and possibly by a sidewalk. Dents in the bridge and posts in the guard rail which have been replaced are testimony to the dangers there, the Turtle supervisor said. The highway committee, together with Supervisors Lathers and Perrigo, were appointed to investigate.

Transfer of $600 to the bond fund to cover a deficit was authorized on motion of Supervisor Simon Shantz, Beloit.

Increase for Judge Field

Judge Charles L. Field, probate judge, was given an increase in salary from $4,200 to $4,500 a year, effective Jan. 1, 1924 upon motion of Supervisor Shantz. The increase is an amendment to corrections to the salary report introduced by Supervisor M. P. Richardson. His salary of $3,855.55 per month was made effective in 1925 under the old report and was corrected to this year. Because the supervising teacher's work 10 months instead of 12, their salary was increased $350 per month and paid in 10 installments. In reference to the judge's increase, Supervisor Richardson pointed out that Walworth and Dane counties pay their county judges $5,000 a year and said the Rock county judge does more and better work than any of them.

Establishment of committee of control of poor relief of Janesville in the office of superintendent of the poor farm and insane asylum to correct the present unsatisfactory condition is seen with the passage of a motion asking the poor relief committee to investigate and report some plan by which this may be made possible. The motion was introduced by Supervisor Richardson and Supervisor Shantz, Beloit.

The bill, which was introduced in the assembly, was referred to the committee on corrections to the salary report introduced by Supervisor M. P. Richardson. His salary of $3,855.55 per month was made effective in 1925 under the old report and was corrected to this year. Because the supervising teacher's work 10 months instead of 12, their salary was increased $350 per month and paid in 10 installments. In reference to the judge's increase, Supervisor Richardson pointed out that Walworth and Dane counties pay their county judges $5,000 a year and said the Rock county judge does more and better work than any of them.

Health Cases Discussed

The board met again in the age old question of the detention hospital and whether the town system is better than the county system under which poor relief is now administered. Supervisor Markham expressed his belief that the other system was better. Authorization for payment by Poor Commissioners amount of $400 due the Janesville detention hospital was awarded several supervisors to the understanding that they were not getting all that was coming to them. Supervisor Perrigo wanted the board to pass a resolution making it retroactive for towns and villages of the county to present any bills from the past two years for payment by the county.

Janesville is entitled to it, other towns are not, it was said.

Supervisor Lathers, who blocked this action, showing that this would not be legal as all the towns have to do if they have money coming from the county, is to present their bill and have it acted upon in the proper way through committee.

Upon the suggestion of Supervisor Simon Shantz, Poor Commissioner Benson of Beloit, will be advised of the board's action.

about my conclusions. They mentioned reports that former Attorney General Gregory had served an attorney for the Gulf Oil company but declared they rendered such connection as false.

The senators were in conference with Senator Coolidge for two hours.

Hughes in Reply

A suggestion in the Senate yesterday by Senator Norris, republican of Nebraska, that Secretary Hughes, former member of the supreme court, should have called attention to the "plain illegality" of the oil leases when they were discussed by the cabinet was followed today by the issuance of this statement by Mr. Hughes:

"The questions of the legality or propriety of the oil leases now under discussion in Congress are not brought before the cabinet for discussion. My opinion on these questions was never sought or expressed, either in or out of the cabinet. If the oil leases were ever referred to in cabinet meetings, I do not recall that they were. It was certainly only by way of general reference and without requiring any responsible action which of course I did not have been willing to take without examination of papers and statutes. Having done my work in the department of state, I had no occasion to consider the questions of law and fact involved, and I have not been called upon to take any responsibility in the matter."

ANTI-DENBY RESOLUTION STRESSED BY DEMOCRATS

Waukesha—A move to attach the Taft-Hartley resolution calling for the resignation of Secretary Denby to the Wash. oil lease committee measure was made today immediately after the senate convened. The amendment was sponsored by Senator Trammell, democrat of Florida.

BANKRUPTCY TRUSTEE TO BE APPOINTED

Appointment of a trustee in the matter of the bankruptcy hearing of Fred Hadley, a farmer near Whitewater, will be made as soon as the referee gives a decision as to the eligibility of the person elected. The highway committee, together with Supervisors Lathers and Perrigo, were appointed to investigate.

Transfer of $600 to the bond fund to cover a deficit was authorized on motion of Supervisor Simon Shantz, Beloit.

HIGHER TUITION RATES IN EFFECT

Increased Charges Still Insufficient to Meet Per Capita School Expenses.

Though tuition rates this semester have been considerably increased over those in effect last semester, the revenue collected is not sufficient to pay the bare cost of instruction, according to figures given out by the attendance department at the high school, Thursday.

The general average cost of instruction out of pocket in the first semester of 1923-24 is $7.75, while the tuition amounts to only $3.99.

The $30 per year rate is effective for the kindergarten to sixth grades inclusive and the seventh and eighth grades in the junior high school are $60 per school year. Per capita cost in the seventh grade is $70.81 and in the eighth grade $72.62.

For the high school, the tuition is $100 per year, while the cost of instruction is $105.21.

Says Mr. Blaine to Mr. Sharp

Knowing the intimate relations between Robert G. Sharp, of Oconto, and John J. Blaine as one does after two years of the official life of the latter, it seems like the blow with which Brutus struck Caesar to have a harsh and ungentle letter demanding Mr. Sharp's resignation from the board of control, come from the governor. Has there been leg work to be done for the executive? Who so ready to do it as Mr. Sharp? Has there been a senator to look after and watch? Who so watchful as Bob Sharp? As a beaver of wood and a drawer of water for the governor, Mr. Sharp has been as indefatigable as a trench cootie. Some months ago the Gazette called attention to the politicizing of the board of control; to the use of the state institutions and their organization for political purposes to serve the governor; to the notorious state of decay in which they were falling by this political machinery under construction. To this the governor made answer. He came to Janesville to speak at a meeting under the auspices of the Eagles. He attacked the Gazette. He showed perfectly what a beautiful system he had in the board of control. He called attention to the masterly manner in which his board was performing the high and noble tasks and how the state institutions were thriving.

Since that time the Gazette has been vindicated again and again. Aubrey Williams, who with his address here at the Rotary club, Mrs. Sara Witter has repeated the charges of neglect of the wards of the state. Others who know and who have been close to the welfare and social service of the state have echoed the charges or added new ones.

The governor fails to give details regarding Mr. Sharp. He is rather short in his reasons publicly as to what he has up his sleeve that makes it so necessary for Mr. Sharp to at once get out of his job. Before being a member of the board of control the Oconto statesman was secretary of the civil service commission. That place was needed for Senator Garey and Mr. Sharp was "promoted" to the membership in the board of control. The Governor owes it to the public to tell the whole story, the details of why Mr. Sharp is inefficient and if his inefficiency has been a recent development or has arisen from too independent action. Mr. Sharp can do no less than stand by his guns if he is not in the wrong and disclose to the public what, if any, influences have been behind the board of control. How far has Mr. Sharp been doing the bidding of the governor?

In the meantime it would be well for those who heard the governor here to read again the several columns of his speech denouncing the Gazette for calling attention to the board of control and the neglect of the wards of the state, now proved.

The only statute not before congress for action is the law of supply and demand.

The Release of Lieut. Griffis

There was no more pleasant news in the paper Wednesday night than that Lieut. C. Hooaven Griffis, late of the American army, has been released from a German prison where he had been confined for many months, following his conviction of the attempt to kidnap the arch-draft evader, Grover Cleveland Bergdolt. There have been great forces at work to secure the release of Griffis. Behind it has been the American Legion and officials at Washington have informed the German representative here that it would be a pleasing thing if Germany would release the lieutenant. The pressure has been thoroughly understood by Germany and at this time a desire to placate public feeling in America is very strong in the hope of a loan soon to rehabilitate German finances. It was a rash act that Griffis performed causing the death of one person and sadly ending in the escape of Bergdolt. But within Griffis was the soul that makes heroes. It was an exploit the like of which we love to dwell upon in history and the romance of war. When such things succeed they are heroic; when they fail they are just foolish adventures. Griffis is free and he is coming home. We shall give him a welcome in America.

Wards of the State.

Her charges are that funds appropriated for the work among the classes of unfortunate who come within the purview of the board of control, are being held in the state treas-

Stamp Rarities Coming to America

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington.—Among the precious relics to pass into the hands of Americans since the war are some of the world's rarest postage stamps. American collectors have been buying these with such zeal in all the auction rooms of Europe that this nation has now become philatelically famous. Individual postage stamps, valued at eight or ten thousand dollars, are said to decorate the albums of scores of Americans, while what is thought to be the largest and most valuable single collection of rare postage stamps in the world is owned by an American textile manufacturer of Utica.

Stamp-collecting is a sport which seems to appeal very strongly to people or else not at all. Those who fail to grasp its fascination can not possibly understand why anyone should wish to pay $10,000 for a square inch of paper, bearing often a faded design and worth originally only one cent. It is easy to see why a collector pays a large sum for a famous painting or are object, because it usually possesses rare beauty, but there is nothing strikingly beautiful nor yet strikingly ugly about most old stamps. One of Joseph Hergesheimer's recent characters probably explains it when he says:

"If it weren't for collectors—if it weren't for men with money and time and discrimination—if special collections of special things weren't made—we'd never know about ourselves or what we were. It's history of the best kind."

That's what stamp collections represent—history of the best kind. There are stamps which commemorate national events; stamps that teach political and economic lessons; as, for instance, the new Russian Soviet issues; and stamps that serve as monuments to the world's famous men. Through the specimens in a fairly rich collection one can trace the rise and fall of various governments, review the vicissitudes of empires and get fleeting glimpses of distant lands. A recent Egyptian issue bears a reproduction of the colossal statue of Rameses II at Thebes, while a late Armenian stamp shows the plain and mountain of Ararat, with the figure of a ploughman in the foreground.

Undoubtedly, the law of supply and demand has much to do with the charm of stamp collecting, too. Rare stamps, like diamonds, are an excellent investment. When the war broke out, most gilt-edged securities in the money market fell many points, but stamp rarities not only retained their value; they increased. A man can put $5,000 in a rare stamp without feeling extravagant, for he is practically sure that in 10 years' time it will be worth as much, if not more. Only the discovery of some unknown specimens could cause a depreciation in its value, and even then it would recover as soon as the copies had been absorbed.

Occasionally, an overlooked specimen does turn up and finds a crowd of eager bidders waiting to welcome it in the auction room. This occurrence is as rare as the stamp itself, though copies sometimes come to light at odd times and odd places. Anyone who has any old papers or letters in his possession would do well to examine the stamps. It is possible that he may come across an old one that is worth at least $100.

The governor fails to give details regarding Mr. Sharp. He is rather short in his reasons publicly as to what he has up his sleeve that makes it so necessary for Mr. Sharp to at once get out of his job. Before being a member of the board of control the Oconto statesman was secretary of the civil service commission. MY FATHER'S MUSTACHE CUP.
When I was just a little lad, not more than nine or ten, a wondrous cup my father had I envied even then. 'Twas not for little boys to use, or or guests who'd come to dine. Nor was it one the girls would choose, of Dresden chinaware. It held about a quart, I think, when mother filled it up. And there was father's name in pink upon that mustache cup.

Bill Derr, having been kissed and hugged, sat back on his heels to consider the matter.

The girl stood up, hands on hips, and looked at him with a half smile. "Don't look so serious," she said. "It isn't a life-and-death matter. Haven't you ever been kissed before? Why, of course you must have been. And didn't you like it? Shucks, don't let that worry you. There's lots of good fish in the sea, and if at first you don't succeed try, try again."

He glanced at her slyly. "Maybe I don't want to succeed."

"Stop it, you flirt!"

"I ain't a flirt!" indignantly. "I—uh—the more I think of it, the more I—uh—I stopped and appeared to think."

She nodded. "The more I—Go on from there. It has a pleasant sound."

"Now who's flirting?"

"I'm perfectly serious. Proceed, Tell sister."

"Well, I—I was just thinkin'—"

He'd 'spotted'—business of indicating her with his thumb—and here's me—business of indicating himself—

"a pretty good fellow, take myself—"

"How about women?"

"Don't expect me to admit it, do you?"

Aw, don't talk to me. Less'n an hour ago you'd have blown daylight through Pan Hawkins if I hadn't stopped you, and now you're jokin' and laughin' like you hadn't a care in the world."

"You little know—"

"However, it doesn't matter. We're discussing, I believe, your personal beauty and the excellence of your morals. What are you leading up to?"

He met her smile with a sour look. "You know well enough what I'm leading up to."

She shook her head. "I'd rather have you know it."

He scowled at her. "Well, why not get married?"

"You and I?"

"Why?"

"Why—uh—why—uh—you need somebody to take care of you."

"I'm sorry, but that's no reason we should get married. You don't, by any chance, love me, do you?"

"Not exactly—"

"Not exactly!" That's a new one. I've had proposals before, but none was ever so casual as this. "Not exactly. You should know that marriage is no state to enter into lightly. I was getting engaged in a serious position."

"You seem to have had plenty of experience."

MARRIED TWELVE YEARS BEFORE BABY CAME

Gladly Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Louisville, Nebraska.—"I was married twelve years before my boy was born. I had a job as a female tramp and had been treated by a physician for them but they continued much the same. Then I read your advertisement in the newspapers and thought I would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a good trial, for if it had helped others, why not me? I have taken 36 bottles of the medicine and am never without it in the house. My baby boy is three years old now and I am sure am happy since I got relief from my troubles. When any one has troubles like mine, or any ways like mine, I am always glad to recommend the Vegetable Compound that they'll get the right kind of medicine."—Mrs. JOE NOVAR, Box 602, Louisville, Neb.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, 98 out of every 100 report they were benefited by its use. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Baked Potatoes with Milk Gravy, Celery.

Fruit Gelatine, Graham Crackers, Tea.

TUESDAY: Broiled Beefsteak, Omaha Potatoes, Baked Squash, Lettuce, Orange Shortcake, Tea.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Baked Apples—Slice and wash perfect apples, medium size. Arrange in baking pan. They may be pared and cored if you like. Add one and one-half cups water, one tablespoon quick tapioca, sweet salt, two or more tablespoons of sugar. The tapioca thickens the juice as it bakes. Serve hot.

Baked Squash—Select a small winter squash, scrub, cut a square opening in the side through the seeds and strings. Insert an apple, parboil, cover and bake. To serve, cut open and scrape out squash and apple together. Add a little salt.

Orange Shortcake—Make a biscuit dough with two cups flour, four tablespoons shortening and one-half teaspoon salt, four tablespoons baking powder, three-quarter cup milk. If the milk is sour use one-half teaspoon soda instead of half the baking powder. Add milk last after rubbing other ingredients together with fingers. Pat into shape one-half inch thick. In a greased pan, thin. While shortcake is baking, boil up oranges and orange juice and add to the juice. Add the orange juice just before serving. If gelatin is desired for the next day remove the skins in the shape of baskets, or in cups with notched edges and set gelatin in these. Throw the baskets into cold water until ready to fill them.

SUGGESTION

Corduroy is a kind of cotton vest which may be washed providing it is not rubbed, squeezed or ironed, says the United States department of agriculture. If it is made up at home, stitch the seams with a loose stitch to prevent puckering when washed.

Before laundering baboon coats or other heavy garments loosen the lining at the bottom to take a bagful of soap lye which may streak or fade a color of soap bark. Soak the garment up and down in the soapy water, changing the water as it becomes soiled. Rinse in several clear waters until no more dirt and soap come out. Hang the garment up dripping wet and so that it will dry in the shape in which it is worn. Dry in the wind, if possible. When dry brush briskly to raise the nap.

Heat Flashes, Chills or Dizzy Spells?

This is of Vital Interest to Mothers and Women of Middle Age.

Dear Claire, Wisc.—During expectancy my health had so completely failed that I was confined to my bed, could not do anything. I was advised to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The first bottle gave me wonderful relief and by the time I had taken four bottles had completely regained my health. I have since had practically no suffering and I am a perfectly healthy and strong baby. Later on, at the critical time of life, I began to suffer with heat flashes and chills, also dizzy spells. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription gave me immediate relief and I came through that trying time without any more trouble. I have since enjoyed perfect health."—Mrs. J. B. Myers, 216 9th Ave.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred is happy to advise all mothers about the care of their children of any age, or of any age, not being helped in the field of the doctor.

Answer to Mrs. W. C. Surber: I feel a little anxiety about sending a diet to the mother who refuses to take other people's advice about feeding her baby when she herself has not asked for it. Also, we require a stamped, self-addressed envelope to accompany all requests for leaflets. Better ask her if she doesn't want one and then send me the envelope. Don't you think that would be better?

Mrs. J. G. Clegg: I would like to have a little advice from your columns. I have a little girl three years old who recently had the measles. She got along fine during the time she was sick, but now the rash seems to hurt her eyes. They are red and get watery. Would you kindly advise me what I can do for her eyes?

"Perhaps I don't," replied the girl calmly.

"I would not for a moment have such a terrible fate befall you," he said passionately. "You are too good—too beautiful. The man who wins you should love you for yourself alone."

"He'll have to," the girl remarked. "It's my cousin, Annie, who has the money—not I. You seem to have got us mixed."

Heart and Home Problems

By ELIZABETH THOMPSON.
Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. THOMPSON, In Care of the Gazette.

WORTHLESS HUSBANDS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am sorely troubled, as only a woman could be, who has done so much toward her husband and is a worthless husband to me. I am a good, honest, sober man, with no bad habits, and a middle aged lady of homes, having ideas, while my husband cares for the opposite side and looks only for a good time for himself.

I can see nothing ahead except separation as he is a terrible drunkard and also has a drinking son. Of late he is drunk crazed I fear for my life at times. I could let all the past be forgotten if he would only give up drinking, but I have lost hope of his doing so.

I want your advice as I have no one else to go to. I have a daughter 17 and would love to keep house for some good, honest, sober man, where I could have my daughter with me and part time, and where I could feel at home and have my work appreciated in the right way.

Please tell me the best plan I could follow. SORELY PUZZLED.

Under the circumstances it is not to be wondered at that you consider separation. To go on living with a man who makes you so unhappy and who shows no tendency toward improvement would not benefit any one drink, but I have lost hope of his doing so.

TODAY'S MARKET

GRAIN

Chicago Review. — With wheat receipts reaching 7, last wheat traders appeared to be taking cognizance of the tightness of wheat receipts and of the increasing of wheat stocks. The market was also increasing, stocks of wheat were up, and the market was steady. The reports that a minute grain decrease would be seen in 1924 grain acreage, when opening prices, which varied from $1.00 to $1.03, and July and July 1, 1923, 1.03, were followed by gains all around.

Later the September delivery sold at a new record, record for the crop. Talk of probable great reduction acreage northwest was current. Wheat closed strong, 34 1/2 cent and July higher, May 1.11% to 1.11% and July 1.11%.

Mild weather curtailing demand from feeders acted as a handbrake on bulls in the commodity market. Wheat, however, was being booked to come to Chicago. After opening at 34 1/2 lower to 34 1/4, wheat, May 75 1/2 to 75 1/4, the corn market scored a slight gain.

It was the fact that out to day established another new high price record for the season had a strong influence on the market. Quotations on oats were based on reports that oats stocks are high. Corn closed unsettled, a shade lower to the advance, May 75 1/2 to 75 1/4.

Cuts started at a shade lower to a shade higher, May 43 1/2 to 44 1/2, suggest somewhat and they rallied.

Lower quotations on hogs weakened the provisions market.

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINCLAIR

WEDNESDAY, this column pointed out what a fine thing it is for Janesville to be able to bring the hockey team of the University of Wisconsin here for an exhibition in the Auditorium Saturday, Feb. 4, following directly after the third annual Gazette ice derby. Just as the sports page was ready to go to press, the dope came along that Marquette university had sent an invitation to the Janesville Hockey club to make a trip to Milwaukee and appear in the practice game. This another contribution to the work of "Dangler of the 'X'." It is too bad that it probably will be impossible, due to shortness of time, to send a team up to the Hilltop, yet the fact that this city has become known as a place where hockey is being played is good tidings for the future possibilities of the sport here.

HOCKEY, ice skating, winter sports, all summer and then all the spring, summer and fall sports are starting to be given a rightful place in the Bower city. It merely takes a matter of time—ever since you are starting to do things right. There are many who are working toward this end and the day is coming when this city will have some sort of an organization whose work it will be to plan a yearly program of outdoor sports for the good of everybody in the city. It can be done, and it will be done.

JANESEVILLE planes to continue the harvest festival idea. It might also make it part of each year to have seasonal sports in which many may participate. Nothing would be finer to aid the growth of sports for everybody than to have definite meets of several kinds, with no unnecessary may look with no participation, participation and spectator.

The spirit of civic pride that will be generated without having to force it into life will be of immeasurable value in building up a bigger stronger and more courageous Janesville. The new League day of Berlin, located about halfway from the city, awaiting the maple for an acreage of 672 to lead his team in gathering 2712, Bill Zoellner, Milwaukee, who leads the singles with 676, and Mr. Mertz, of Fond du Lac, who is in second in the all events with 652. In the doubles, Mr. Mertz, of Fond du Lac, and Mr. Mertz, of Fond du Lac, who have 213, 202 and 257.

Only two teams joined the 2600 club during the evening, both of these being from Milwaukee. Kotekil Alley five registered 251, and the Dinty Moore have 246 to their credit.

Judge Clark has the best performance among the 26 teams which were on the drives here Wednesday night. Milwaukee, Berlin, Madison, Clinton and Janesville teams rated.

Kroll hits 672.

Ice Derby Blanks Go to Scholars of Every School

Every public school student in Janesville will have the best possible chance to enter the third annual Gazette ice derby. By the kindness of F. O. Holt, superintendent of schools, entry blanks are being distributed to every grade school of the city. The blanks will be held on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 9.

In the high school, Coach Gibson of the boys, and Miss Kopp of the girls' gym, have consented to host the meet along their classes. Entry blanks may be procured from them.

Blanks are also at the Y. M. C. A. and the W. C. A. athletic institutions and clubs will have them by Friday night.

With the added attraction of an exhibition game by the hockey team of the University of Wisconsin, the meet should be the greatest in the history of the city. Magnificent gold, silver and bronze medals will be given for first, second and third places.

Come on you skaters. Get that blank in as rapidly as possible. Entry fee is only 10 cents and you may go to as many events in your class as you like. Time is growing short. Boont, Janesville!
